

Something for your ears – Speedlink presents practical home office products

The Speedlink headsets THEBE and SENTO provide optimal audio quality and the stylish headset stand GANT brings order to the desk chaos

Heeslingen/Deutschland, February 24, 2021 – Whether video conferencing or entertainment – with the SPEEDLINK THEBE Stereo Headset or the SPEEDLINK SENTO USB Headset you are perfectly equipped for both. In addition, the SPEEDLINK GANT Acrylic Headset Stand provides the perfect storage option to keep your workspace looking neat and tidy after using your headset.

Highest wearing comfort with the SPEEDLINK THEBE Stereo Headset

We all know it – during important meetings, the sound can be rather poor or you cannot be understood well yourself. This is where the Speedlink THEBE stereo headset comes to the rescue. It combines crystal clear stereo sound with the highest wearing comfort. Thanks to the super-soft and enclosing ear cups, disturbing external noises are effectively blocked and the adjustable, padded headband ensures the perfect fit. The headset is rounded off with the retractable microphone and the remote control integrated into the cable.

Ready for immediate use – the SPEEDLINK SENTO USB Headset

The SENTO also ensures a comfortable feeling when worn, rich stereo sound and easy control in a balanced package. Due to the integrated sound card and the USB port, it is ready to use right away. In addition to the headset, a speaker system can also be connected to the PC without having to change the plugs. Furthermore, the headset has an integrated cable remote, which can be used to individually control the volume or even activate the mute function.

SPEEDLINK GANT Acrylic Headset Stand – the ideal storage solution for your headset

A tidy workplace promotes productivity and efficient work. If you don't know where to put your headset when it's not in use, the GANT headset stand is the ideal solution. It provides an overview on the desk and offers a visually appealing and secure storage option. The elegant, minimalist design with a transparent look fits on any desk and protects the headset from scratches and cable breaks at the same time.
