

RACING SPHERES for the whole family

Weertzen, 1 March 2018: Right on time to mark the start of spring, electronics specialist Speedlink presents a remote-controlled racing toy for indoor and outdoor fun.

These remote-control RACING SPHERES can be fitted with a studded silicone skin for grip on earthy surfaces or sand. This makes them the perfect toy for the arrival of spring and the return of nicer weather. While they won't be performing any aerial acrobatics, they're just as much fun and robust as the drones that are also available from Speedlink – making these RACING SPHERES a real blast to play with even for younger kids. With their 30m range, they will soon put a smile on faces when navigating through the various obstacles (supplied) or when racing against each other. What's more, each sphere's flashing LEDs are really eye catching and create stunning effects.

The RACING SPHERES are available individually for €39.99 or as a set of two in the RACING SPHERES COMPETITION SET for €79.99 from stores and online retailers.
