An adventure for the ears and the eyes – Speedlink launches six gaming headsets

Weertzen, 19th December 2019 – The end of the year is approaching, and there’s no let up at Speedlink with its launch of six versatile gaming headsets for PC and console gamers.

Classic black-red colour scheme, sleek illumination or breathtaking light show – anyone still on the hunt for a gaming headset shortly before Christmas will find the perfect gift for someone, or even themselves, with models to suit any taste. The star on the Christmas tree is the ORIOS RGB 7.1 for pro-level esports use on the PC. With 16.7 million colours on offer together with a host of light effects, with this headset adorning the gamer’s head it’ll light up the gaming room like a stunning halo – with the detailed 7.1 surround sound and thunderous bass delivering the perfect soundtrack. And with crystal-clear voice chat and super-soft earcup padding, gamers will be able to game the night away in total comfort. Illumination and sound settings are easily customised via the app – and as all the other products in the pro-level ORIOS RGB lineup are controlled via the same app, gamers can create a perfectly coordinated colour scheme and gaming experience.

Headsets to suit any gamer’s taste

Alongside the ORIOS RGB 7.1, Speedlink is launching a further five gaming headsets with different designs – all complementing the company’s multi award-winning gaming headset lineup comprising models including the MAXTER, RAIDOR and LEGATOS for PCs and consoles. Each new model boasts immersive stereo sound and over-ear cups with super-soft padding for unparalleled comfort, with quick and easy control of the volume level and microphone muting via either the inline remote or directly on the earcup. While the well-armed GARON is
